Connecting the Created to the Creator

Bring the authentic lab experience to your classroom!

The By Design Labs team developed an engaging and expansive investigative experience for our Adventist education science students. The 21st Century learner is digitally transported to a variety of environments and enabled to perform their labs in a variety of situations. The intent of this system is that it will be available to all Seventh-day Adventist schools as a gratis service (FREE) for the North American Division of Seventh-day Adventists.
